

Education Committee Symposia

European Congress of Pathology, September 5-9, 2015, Belgrade

Joint IAP/ESP Symposium : My worst mistake and what I have learnt from it

Chair : H.K. Ng, Pierre Bedossa

Manuel Sobrinho Simoes

Jean-Francois Flejou

Jane Dahlstrom

H.K. Ng

Pierre Bedossa

APIAP, June 4, 2015, Brisbane

Mistakes Made, Lessons Learnt

Chair : Soon Lee, Jane Dahlstrom, Samir Amr

Claude Cuvelier – A signet-ring cell carcinoma of the stomach

Gary Tse – Breast mass in a 78 year old woman

Dominic Spagnolo – A reactive follicle by any other name

Malcolm M. Hayes – the Embarrassing tale of a seemingly bland cell lesion of soft tissue

Philip W. Allen – Aneurysmal or angiomatoid fibrous histiocytoma ?

Samir Amr – Breast carcinoma or ?

IAP Education Symposium at USCAP, March 24, 2015, Boston

Chair : Martin Hale, Ghazi Zaatari

George Kontogeorgos, President-Elect, IAP - Opening More Education Channels

Ann Nelson, Joint Pathology Centre, USA - Making Pathology Work : African strategies for advancing pathology

Andrew Field, St Vincent's Hospital, Sydney - Assisting cytology teaching in sub-Saharan Africa – after 8 years and 16 tutorials, what have we learnt?

Adekunle Adesina, Baylor College of Medicine & Friends of Africa - The challenges of improving pathology services in Africa; which way forward?

H.K. Ng, Chinese University of Hong Kong - “Pathologie Sans Frontieres!!”

30th International Congress of The International Academy of Pathology, October 7, 2014, Bangkok – IAP Education Symposium I : Teaching and Examinations in Pathology; IAP Education Symposium II : International Pathology Education

John Nicholls, Hong Kong – Teaching and evaluation of basic pathological sciences in generation of problem based learning

Alfred Lam, Brisbane – Postgraduate assessment in pathology: an 8-year experience

Lewis Hassell, Oklahoma – Flattening the world of pathology training – what can digital pathology do?

Ui Soon Khoo, Hong Kong – Innovative use of technologies to enhance the teaching of pathology

Ghazi Zaatari, Beirut – International certification in pathology

Claude Cuvelier, Ghent - Schools of pathology: their contribution to postgraduate education

Kristin Henry, London - Schools of pathology: their contribution to postgraduate education in pathology

Venkatesh Shashidhar, Brisbane – Innovations in undergraduate pathology teaching

Raymond McMahon, Manchester – Preserving pathology in an integrated curriculum in the UK

26th European Congress of Pathology, September 3, 2014, London – ESP/IAP Joint Symposium : Pathology of the medical undergraduate curriculum

Chair : Samir Amr, Han van Krieken

Nicki Cohen, UK – What pathology do junior doctors need to know ?

Jane Dahlstrom, Australia – Inspiring learning in pathology for medical students

Ray McMahon – How to maintain pathology in an integrated programme ?

Lisa Browning, UK – The value of pathology museum collections – good old-fashioned teaching in the 21st century

IAP Education Symposium at USCAP, March 4, 2014, San Diego

Chair : H.K. Ng

Samir Amr, IAP – IAP and its global mission in pathology education

Kristin Henry, London – History of the Education Committee of the IAP

Martin Hale, Johannesburg, South Africa – The African divisions : current state of pathology capacity

Alec Howat, UK – The work of the BDIAP in East Africa

Ghazi Zaatari, Beirut – Pathology training in the broad Arab world

25th European Congress of Pathology, September 4 2013, Lisbon – ESP/IAP Joint symposium : pathology of the medical undergraduate curriculum

Chair : Mike Wells, Samir Amr

Anthony Weetman, UK – Pathology education in the wider undergraduate context – a view from the UK

Fred Bosman, Switzerland – The Maastricht experience and beyond

Ghazi Zaatari, Lebanon – Current trends and future developments in the Middle East

H.K. Ng, Hong Kong – The View from Hong Kong and the Far East